How to defeat it... Go to the beginning of the game. No hidden content. If you follow the main story past level 10 without dying, there are 2 optional sub-quests. Level 6/7 is optional. If your not into the main story then... I'd start with the main quest, get to level 10, save on the middle quest with some money to buy some items then continue through to about level 25. If you really want to find some secrets, go to westcrest and go to the outdoor area then begin the side quests at north forest. Be prepared to go back if you die and be able to respawn in the city. Other things that can be done - Help in the other cities by doing quests for them - Recruit other townspeople to help you out as you go through the game - Try to get as much loot as you can - Do the side quests, once you have enough money you can pay for upgrading houses and collecting resources - You can learn any spell but most of the official support people wont teach it until you're at least level 9. - You can buy quick travel to travel over walls or items that make you jump higher - If you are good at making potions, you can carry around 3 potions for emergency use in addition to 3 other potions you make. You also get a permanent potion at level 2. - You can also charge the potions to make them last longer. FAQs Q: Why does the game give me achievements for different tasks that I don't complete? A: These are probably locked achievements from the initial Kickstarter. At the time when I backed the game, I was super excited. I got the game early and was playing it every day. I got a lot of achievements and was trying to complete as many of them as possible, but I guess they bff6bb2d33
