Neutari, former owner of the ride. DO NOT BE AFRAID. These words were written on one of the walls on the second floor of the house where I lived as a child. It was a house with seven rooms, two bathrooms, and a small yard that was mostly palm trees and full of dogs. Memories of those days were vivid and pleasant. But even more vivid memories were of what happened in this house when I was a teenager. At that time, my father was not yet bald, and I was not so fat. At that time, I had not yet learned to drink.

Sen. Ted Cruz of Texas made the announcement that he will sponsor the so-called Second Amendment Protection Act at a protest against gun control outside the U.S. Supreme Court where justices are hearing arguments over whether the court should uphold an expansive interpretation of gun rights under the Second Amendment. Cruz said he would also be sponsoring a companion measure in the House. "I believe in the right to bear arms. I also believe in federalism," Cruz said. "I believe that states have a primary responsibility to protect and defend the lives and liberty of their citizens. "This bipartisan bill will ensure that the United States Constitution is followed, that we protect the Second Amendment, and that we allow the states to keep and bear arms," Cruz said. Cruz said that his legislation is not a "magic bullet" that will resolve all gun control problems. But he added it's "an important step in the right direction." His announcement comes on the same day as the Supreme Court heard arguments on how the federal government can prevent c6a93da74d
